Are working children repeaters more often than those who do not work? Contrary to the popular idea that work keeps children out of mischief, this report shows that among working children, both boys and girls, there is a greater tendency than among nonworkers, to go wrong and to keep on going wrong after the start has once been made. In order to show that it is the working life rather than the home conditions that cause the greater delinquency of working children, the report gives comparative tables as to the home conditions of both working and nonworking delinquents. It further states the relation of particular occupations to delinquency. In this connection it is interesting, though not surprising to note that, in general, the occupations producing the greater number of delinquents are those in which the child works largely without supervision. That is, newsboys, errandboys, delivery-boys--the children who are doing those things we have tacitly classified as children s work--are the ones who are most often going wrong. The other occupations producing Based on Vol. VIII, Report on Condition of Woman and Child WageEarners in the U. S., 61st Congress, Senate Doc. 645. 37 a large number of delinquents are those offering peculiar temptations in themselves. Being the work of Government agents, the report is authoritative. It is based on the records of 3,243 children who were arrested during the year 1907-8 in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Indianapolis, and...
