Excerpt: . more about the life at gatesville L bout this time an amusing incident occurred which served to relieve the tension and tedium of our edi torial life. At three o clock one bitter cold morning, in the winter of 1883, there was a knock at my door. The night was as crisp and clear as it had been on December 8, 1878, when John Stull was killed. The air had the same tang and tingle in it. We were always prepared for the mob. Living with me at that time were two printers--W. D. Shaw and Tom Kinsey. These boys were as brave as lions, and as true as steel. Every night when we retired, each one of us left his revolver out on a little table in easy reach of his right hand, so that we would be ready for any emergency...
